PEACEMAKER

An Attorney In a New Role Given Good Advice Which is Heeded.

An item in Saturday's Times stated that a representative of that paper had accidentally overheard a young man asking an attorney to file a petition for him for a divorce from his wife. Taking advantage of that information The Times man sought the attorney, Mr. James Beauchamp, this morning to learn the particulars, when, much to his surprise, he found that no petition had been filed, but the affair had resulted in an entirely different manner.

The young man named Vincent, who had married a young lady of Warren county many years ago, had separated from her, and had been living out West for the past five years solus cum solo. No doubt tiring of living alone he came to this city with the view of obtaining a divorce that would leave him free to wed another.

He was directed by Beauchamp to call at his office Saturday afternoon and bring his wife with him, which he did, where, instead of filing a suit for divorce, upon the advice of the attorney they agreed to live together again; and became once more reconciled to each other and went off on the evening train, the husband with a hundred dollars in his pocket to take in the Centennial Exposition and to spend another honeymoon. That was a good act that the recording angel will put down to Jim Beauchamp's credit and one that might well be followed by the profession, as "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall inherit the Kingdom of Heaven"—Bowling Green Times.

SILENT FOR FIFTY YEARS

Fishy Story About An Elderly Maiden In Maine.

New York, June 29.—An East Bluehill, Me., dispatch to the Sun says that the people in the southern part of Hancock county are deeply interested in a peculiar malady which afflicts Miss Experience Guilford, an aged woman of that place, who has not uttered a word or any audible sound for fifty years. The original reason for Miss Guilford's speechlessness was anger because she could not marry the man of her choice. When she was nineteen years old she fell in love with William Simpson, the village schoolmaster. They were to be married June 18, 1848. One of Miss Guilford's rejected suitors told tales on the schoolmaster, and Miss Guilford's parents stopped the wedding. Miss Guilford thereupon said: "I swear I will not speak a word, though I live for fifty years, unless I marry this man."

She kept her pledge. Her parents died, and she went to live with her married brother. When he died she made her home with her sister, and after the sister's death she went to a camp in the woods and kept house for her brother, with whom she is now living. At this time she performed a share of the household work and did not show any regret for having made the vow. When the fifty years of silence expired, ten days ago, she was visited by a large number of relatives and friends, who went to the camp for the purpose of being present when she was at liberty to speak. Soon after the middle meal Miss Guilford dressed herself in the garments which she had not worn for a half century. At 2 o'clock she stood up before the people, smiled and opened her mouth to speak; but though she tried hard and got red in the face trying, she could not utter a sound. Her vocal muscles had become atrophied from long disuse and refused to work.

When Miss Guilford found that she could not speak, she sent to Bangor for a physician and took to her bed. The doctor gave no hope of recovery, but suggested that she be sent to a Boston hospital for treatment. As soon as Miss Guilford gets strong enough to take the journey she will make another effort to regain her speech. Her father left her a good sum of money at his death, which has been growing every year in a saving bank, so she is well able to obtain the treatment she requires.

A ground of papers which gives individuality to the July Century deals with the hunting of large game. Mr. H. W. Seton-Karr describes his experiences after big game in Africa and India, including the hunting of elephant, rhinoceros, and tiger, and particularly his experiences in hunting with an Indian Prince. Mr. William Willard Howard, well known as a correspondent in Armenia writes of "Hunting the Jaguar in Venezuela," and there is an article with curious illustrations on "Sports in the Seventeenth Century," including fox-tossing, a deer-drive, etc. This number of the magazine is notable for the opening article of the new series on the Old English Masters, accompanied by Mr. Cole's wood engravings. The public is already familiar with the predecessors of this series—the Old Italian Masters and the Old Dutch and Flemish Masters, engraved in the presence of the pictures themselves by this distinguished American engraver. The new series begins with Hogarth, and the frontispiece is a beautiful picture of Garriek and his wife from the original in Windsor Castle. The text is by Prof. John C. Van Dyke.

A negro man at Newport, Ark., crushed a man's skull, criminally assaulted a woman and then cut her throat.

When the appetite fails there is no use in trying to tempt the palate with delicate food. No matter how good and well-cooked and "appetizing" the food may be, it cannot give any nourishment unless the stomach is able to digest it. Nature indicates the state of the constitution by the loss of appetite. This is an unfailing indicator. It shows that something is fundamentally wrong with the nutritive functions.

The only true natural relief must be as searching and fundamental as the trouble it aims to overcome. It is the thorough deep-searching character of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which causes the marvelous efficacy in all bilious and digestive difficulties. It creates that healthful vitality of the entire digestive and nutritive organism which produces both the natural desire for food and the organic capacity to assimilate and transform it into nourishing, revivifying blood and healthy tissue. It gives appetite, digestion and sound sleep, and builds up solid muscular strength and vital nerve-energy.

H. H. Thompson, Esq., of P. O. Box 4, Kippie, Mo., writes: "I had been troubled with extreme vomiting in summer season, always after eating; had to be very careful at times to get anything to stay on my stomach at all; had been taking other medicines, but without effect. I heard a friend speak of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and thought I would give it a trial. I used about five bottles of it and think it is the only medicine that did me any good, as I have a splendid appetite now, and am not using any medicine at all and don't think I need any more."

A man who is suffering from the evil effects of constipation doesn't feel like work, and can't even enjoy his leisure hours. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a sure, safe, and permanent cure for constipation. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. They never gripe. Dishonest druggists try to get you to take a substitute for the sake of the added profit.

Wise Men Know

It is folly to build upon a poor foundation, either in architecture or in health. A foundation of sand is insecure, and to deaden symptoms by narcotics or nerve compounds is equally dangerous and deceptive. The true way to build up health is to make your blood pure, rich and nourishing by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills act easily and promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headaches.

Cycle circles had a sensation in the reduction of the Columbia wheel to $75. Reductions are looked for all along the line.

The confidence of the people in Hood's Sarsaparilla is due to its unequalled record of wonderful cures.

A HINT TO FARMERS

Figures Showing That They Should Raise Peas, Beans and Sweet Corn.

The farmers hereabout should know what they could actually do with growing peas, said Mr. Ed Guenther yesterday. "At Tipton, Ind., the farmers have in 600 acres of peas. The owner of the factory states that they will average three tons to the acre. That factory is paying $22.50 per ton for the peas in the pod at the factory, which would make them $67.50 per acre for their peas. There is no crop so productive as peas when the season strikes right, and it is pretty certain to strike two times out of three. If farmers would raise more truck and a greater variety of crops it would be very much better for them. They would not stand chances of losing their entire year's work, as some of them do now, by raising a single crop that fails two times out of three. If the farmers here would raise peas, beans, sweet corn, tomatoes and other truck for the eating factory, they would be certain to make more money in the end, as the factory always makes a contract with the farmer at an agreed price before he begins his work, and knows exactly what he is going to get. He markets the stuff early. For instance, peas are marketed in June, beans in July, tomatoes and sweet corn in August, September and October, and they always get cash for their stuff, so that they are through with the crop and get the money to liquidate their obligations with long before they would get their money out of crops that they have to work on for a solid year before they can market."—Owensboro Messenger.

John L. Sullivan is working like a beaver at Muldoon's retreat, in New York, so that he may make a good showing in his six-round bout with Fitzsimmons. A World reporter, who has seen Sullivan at Muldoon's, says of the old-time fighter that he looks good, far better than when he returned from England nine years ago and began to train for his fight with Kilrain. Then his flesh was flabby and his eyes were dull. Now his eyes are bright and clear. They could not be better. His skin is a healthy pink and white, like the skin of a boy. He weighs 250 lbs., but the flesh is of a different quality from that which he carried in '88. He is not flabby. He has not drunk a drop since last October. Sullivan, according to this writer, has only three blows—a chopping left and a right that is shot at you like a cannon ball or swung like a club.

Auditor Stone has made an important ruling with regard to the banks of the State. He has decided to pay back—in the shape of credited taxes and some cash—to the banks organized since the time for accepting the provisions of the Hewitt Bill, all the seventy-five cents tax paid by them to the State, which was in excess of the forty-two and one-half cents that other property was paying. The banks that accepted the Hewitt act's provision will not get the rebate from the State, excepting those which have put in a claim for same.

AMONG THE POULTRY

Licks cannot live where carbolic acid is used.

Clean dust is an excellent purifier and disinfectant.

It is a good plan to mix up all soft feed with milk.

While unlimited range is beneficial, it is not necessary.

Never feed sulphur to poultry when the weather is damp.

The laying hens should have their nests somewhat hidden from view.

The most persistent sitters are coohins, brahmas, Wyandottes and dominiques.

Onions, cabbage and celery chopped fine with a piece of meat make a good poultry ration.

While fowls drink more water in summer than in winter, yet they need a good supply in winter.

One serious objection to allowing the ducks and geese to run together is that it is almost impossible to keep the ducks from soiling the water.—St. Louis Republic.

"Tears, idle tears, I know not what they mean," wrote the poet. But tears always mean something. There are tears of joy, and of despair, and those saddest most pathetic tears of the nervous over-worked woman who has been bearing up as bravely as she may under a daily burden of weakness and dragging, torturing pain.

No wonder women weep. The wonder is that they are not often in tears for all they have to bear and suffer; and the saddest thing about it is how little their sufferings are understood. Even the doctor, nine times in ten says: "Oh, a little nervousness, that's all," or "neuritis," or "insomnia," or "dyspepsia." If he suspects the real cause he insists upon examinations and vocal treatment,—about the very worst thing possible to a nervous, overworked woman.

There is no need of these repugnant methods. Any woman may insure health and strength in a womanly way by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures the weaknesses and diseases of the feminine organism absolutely and completely. It was devised for this special purpose by one of the most eminent and experienced physicians in this country; an expert specialist in women's diseases.

For nearly 30 years Dr. Pierce has been chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. Any woman may consult him by letter, free of charge. Her letter will be answered not by a mere nurse or uneducated, unscientific person, but by the most competent medical authority anywhere obtainable.

All women should read Dr. Pierce's thousand-page illustrated book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser." It contains more clear and comprehensive advice on medical subjects than any other book ever published. A paper-bound copy sent free for twenty-one one-cent stamps to pay the cost of mailing only. Or cloth-bound for thirty-one stamps.
